

The aura surgical treatment

Anyone who hears about my aura surgical treatments asks:

What is that?

What is it you do exactly?

In summary, I dissolve karmic patterns and „operate “in the energy field of the body, which means not directly in the physical body.

More detailed, one can say:

During an aura surgery treatment...

... the energy field (aura) of the body is being worked on

... there is almost no contact with the physical body

... there is no tissue being injured: no blood is being spilled and there is no scar tissue, because the work that is being done is on an energetic and not a physical level

... the cells and our consciousness are being provided with new impulses through so called „consciousness techniques “. The client decides in this moment (consciously or subconsciously) if he or she wants to accept these new impulses.

In order to stay concentrated, I work with medical instruments. However, it is also possible to work without these instruments because aura surgery has all to do with consciousness, energy and information.

During a treatment, I have three possibilities:

1. I can work directly on the client's aura
2. Directly on the client's aura, but with the help of an anatomy book or X-ray. The client holds this in his or her hands, and I push, pull, turn, test and operate on the book or X-ray. The client experiences the operation in his body.
3. In the same way, I can use an anatomy model, like a knee joint or vertebrae column. The client holds this and experiences the operation in his body.

This may sound a bit mad, but in my experience, it works very well, because the subconsciousness of the client responds and not the logical analytical mind. This also means that the client must be aware of the sensations in his body and that ultimately, his or her body decides if an aura surgical treatment is a possible treatment for him or her. Aura surgery is one of the possibilities to support the self- healing process on all levels in our body.

Of course, everyone is happy when their pain is gone when they can walk again etc. Mostly, we feel good again when everything returns to its previous state, without the disturbing symptoms. This does not necessarily mean though that the self-healing mechanism of the body works properly again, that emotions are dissolved, and energy is in balance again.

Our goal must be to record and treat everything that relates to the disease. From an aura surgical perspective, disease has its origin on an energetic level and shows itself afterward in the body. When we look at the relation between energy and matter, much is clarified: An atom consists of 99.9999% energy and of 0.0001% so called matter. Every tissue of our body is made of atoms and therefore energy. We are pure energy! And one can direct energy through consciousness. If we keep this in mind, it makes no sense to only treat our physical body. For a thorough and lasting healing, we need energy directing elements that support our bodies self-healing powers. Often, blockages must be removed, and karmic patterns resolved before a physical change can happen. These processes are very individual, and healing can either happen quickly or show itself after weeks or months.

Karmic patterns are - from my point of view- energetic entanglements. One is still entangled energetically in something. Mostly, this happens completely unaware of our conscious, like some sort of program playing in the background. Karmic patterns can reveal themselves on a physical but also on a mental level: diffuse pain, anxiety etc. With the assistance of kinesiological muscle testing, I can ask the (intelligent) subconscious of the client's body, if and which karmic patterns there are. When the client agrees to resolve them, I do so.

The resolving of karmic patterns takes place in an extraordinarily strong symbolic way and most of the time leaves an impressive memory. Often, the client receives images that urge him or her to actively help with the resolving so that the subconscious can be rewritten.

There are many indications for an aura surgical treatment:

- Various joint problems (foot, knee, hip, shoulder joint). This can be pain, but also limited range of motion.
- All kinds of neck and back problems
- Torn tendons and tense muscles
- Gallbladder disease and other organ complaints
- Allergies
- Anxiety (fear of deep water, electricity, fire, heights or small spaces)
- Unpleasant repeating patterns in life
- Undefinable pain

Contra-indications

- Influence of drugs or alcohol
- Developing dementia like Alzheimer's disease etc
- Diagnosed schizophrenia, acute depression or psychosis

Examples of aura surgical treatment I did during the last few years:

Knee pain: After resolving possible karmic patterns, all structures in and around the knee joint are being tested with the help of an anatomy book, to see if the client experiences something in his physical body like a tingling, pressure, etc. Every structure needs a different treatment. A meniscus can be filled up with liquid, arthrosis can be (energetically) removed, cartilage replaced, and ligaments can be tightened or released. The possibilities are extensive.

Gallbladder: During testing, the client experienced a pressure in his or her physical gallbladder. The aura surgical possibilities for gallbladder operations are remarkably interesting, while the gallbladder is not removed. The organ is preserved and functions normally again. One client was feeling extremely bad and his body was completely yellow. He decided after the aura surgical energetic removal to also remove his gallbladder „the normal way “. Surprisingly, there were no complications and there was a complete healing. Another client I treated supported her aura surgical gallbladder operation with Ayurveda. She feels great so far.

Neck pain: Despite several treatments, the neck pain of this client returned again and again. Sometimes it would occur more on the right side, sometimes more on the left side, without any cause and very diffusely. The karmic pattern „hanging “was tested and the client experienced a feeling of being strangled. The resolving of this pattern was done by cutting the energetic string and taking it away. Then the vertebrae were put in the right place again and the muscles were tightened a little. This happened in 2016 and her neck pain is almost gone since this treatment.

Chronic backpain: A client reported knee and chronic backpain. The kinesiological muscle test showed an energetic wryed pelvis and the karmic pattern „guilt “. What's important is that the client had no feelings or thoughts of guilt on the conscious level, but energetically, she was still entangled in something that had to do with guilt. Both patterns were resolved and after that, her knee and backpain disappeared within three weeks and only come back a little when stress levels are high in her life.
